

ENGINEER Here - There - Everywhere . . .

• GULFPORT, MISS.

• SAIGON, RVN

OVERVIEW is the customary way for Petty Officer Second Class Dean G. Vest, from Anchorage, Alaska, who must gaze far below to meet the eye of other beings. The seven-foot, one-inch Navyman is a student in the Direct Procurement Petty Officer School, Naval Construction Battalion Center, Gulfport, Miss. He reported July 8, only three days after entering active naval service.

RADM James V. Bartlett, commander, Third Naval Construction Brigade; LTJG Terence A. O'Neil and BU1 Harold Lockett, both members of U. S. NMCB-58 received the Chuong My Medal from the Vietnamese Government, in appreciation for their building efforts in Saigon. The awards were personally presented the trio by Prime Minister Tran Van Huong in Saigon's Cholon district. In background is Captain John R. Fisher, CEC, USN, commander of the 30th Naval Construction Regiment.

• PHILADELPHIA, PA.

MIGHTY OAKS, ETC.—However the saying goes, it characterizes the spirit of confidence of Walter J. Sarkees (left) and CDR Frank W. Jones, CEC, USN, as they contemplate this pine seedling— one of 12,000 newly planted on the Naval Air Engineering Center at the perimeter of Mustin Field, Philadelphia Naval Base. The contract was prepared by East Central Division, NAVFAC.
